A Most Noble Quest

“Learning is a treasure which accompanies its owner everywhere.”

Chinese Proverb

This is our goal – it is as simple as that. Day in and day out, for the last 26 years, we have worked to bring hope and empowerment to children, adults and families challenged with learning, literacy and attention issues.

It is something we are good at ... and it is something we are proud of ...
and it is something we could not have done without you!

The wonderful support of our friends, donors, volunteers and partners over the years has ensured that essential programs and services would be available to the community.

The birth of this newsletter rings in a new year of potential and possibilities.

We have sector leadership in family literacy; we are setting a benchmark in Literacy and Youth Justice; our professional development is addressing the needs of educators and other professionals; and our work in the field of learning difficulties is unparalleled.

Our achievements, however, can be seen best on the faces of children, adults and families who have overcome obstacles and attained success in their lives.

Please join us along this most noble quest as we strive, day in and day out, to ... change lives through learning!

A Legacy for Learning

In 2004, Jack Lee and Acclaim Energy Trust created a legacy ... the Jack Lee / Acclaim Energy Trust Endowment Fund. Currently valued at approximately $400,000, this Fund will provide a source of income for programs and services at the Calgary Learning Centre in perpetuity! A remarkable gift, which will never end!

You too can create a Legacy for Learning... please call the Director of Development & Partnerships at 403-686-9300.
